

Ya know, no one likes competition. But please do not let these large radio companies control what I can have on my satellite radio. They realize the product they have is a dinosaur compared to the satellite radio.

They should spend their money and resources on making a better product. Rather than spending on trying to kill the competition. That isn't the way america works.